President's Message

Dear SCAEYC Affiliate Members,

We hope your new year will bring growth, opportunity and success! Just as we work toward facilitating opportunities for success in each of the families we serve, your professional organization will do the same to strengthen and support you in your professional growth and continuing success.

I joined NAEYC when I was a Child Development major in college. My mother, who was also an early childhood educator, suggested that it would be beneficial to me. I was happy to receive the issues of Young Children and the reduced registration fees at local, state and national conferences. My membership gave me resources to help me be a better toddler teacher and I was happy to just sit back, send in my membership dues and enjoy what I received from the organization. I had a vague notion that there were individuals who did the hard work to make sure that newsletters were produced, conferences were planned and organized, and membership was recruited, but I wasn't sure I had the time to help out and, even though I sort of wanted to be involved, how would I know what to do, or how to do it. I was waiting to be asked.

Many, many years later a friend of mine invited me to participate as a guest in a board meeting of the Communities of East Los Angeles (CELA) chapter, the one my mother had belonged to over the years. CELA was in the reaffiliation process with NAEYC and was looking for individuals who would be willing to serve on one of their committees. As the Director of an NAEYC accredited child care center in Boyle Heights, I agreed to serve as the chairperson of CELA's Accreditation committee, and I had my first real opportunity to see how important the volunteers who serve on the NAEYC boards and committees are to the success of the organization.

In 2004, I got another invitation, this time to serve as the Recording Secretary for the Southern California Association for the Education of Young Children (SCAEYC) Board. I met the most amazing, dedicated people who were committed to re-inventing SCAEYC from a regional affiliate overseeing all of the local chapters in southern California to a strong affiliate under the new NAEYC rules. In the two years that I was Recording Secretary I had an opportunity to really observe the organization, quietly (?) keeping the minutes of the meetings while things were unfolding around me and I realized how important SCAEYC was as a leader in the early childhood community in southern California.

SERVING ON THE BOARD OF SCAEYC HAS BEEN A WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE FOR ME THESE PAST FOUR YEARS AND I WISH I HADN'T WAITED SO LONG TO BE AN ACTIVE PARTICIPANT IN THIS ORGANIZATION. SCAEYC IS TRULY ONE OF THE MOST RESPECTED EARLY CHILDHOOD ORGANIZATIONS AND AS SUCH, HAS BEEN ASKED TO REPRESENT THE EARLY CHILDHOOD COMMUNITY IN MANY WAYS. AS THE LARGEST AEYC AFFILIATE IN LOS ANGELES, WE ARE REPRESENTED ON THE LOS ANGELES COUNTY CHILD CARE PLANNING COMMITTEE AND THE LOS ANGELES COUNTY CHILD CARE POLICY ROUNDTABLE. WE SPEARHEADED THE CAMPAIGN FOR HIGH QUALITY EARLY LEARNING STANDARDS TO POSITIVELY IMPACT THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE STATE PRESCHOOL STANDARDS. WE ALSO PARTICIPATED AS A STAKEHOLDER ORGANIZATION IN THE LOS ANGELES UNIVERSAL PRESCHOOL DESIGN PROCESS.

YOU HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO MEET AND WORK WITH A GROUP OF VERY DYNAMIC INDIVIDUALS WHO ARE COMMITTED TO CHILDREN AND TO DEVELOPING LEADERS IN OUR COMMUNITY. DON'T MAKE THE SAME MISTAKE THAT I DID AND WAIT FOR SOMEONE TO READ YOUR MIND. COME TO OUR BOARD MEETINGS, VOLUNTEER TO SERVE ON A COMMITTEE, HELP WITH THE NEWSLETTER OR WEBSITE, RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP. WE NEED EARLY CHILDHOOD PROFESSIONALS LIKE YOU TO STEP UP TO BE THE NEXT GENERATION OF LEADERS IN THE EARLY CHILDHOOD COMMUNITY IN LOS ANGELES.

SINCERELY,

Lisa Wilkin, President

NAEYC and Local Accreditation Resources

Thanks to the feedback and comments that programs have made to the NAEYC Academy about the accreditation process, NAEYC has recently announced the creation of the NAEYC Accreditation Program Support Department. This department was created to work directly with early childhood programs, NAEYC affiliates, and accreditation facilitation projects. The Department, 1 800-424-2460, ext. 3, has knowledgeable staff available to answer questions about the accreditation process. Please call them with your questions.

In addition, the Department can guide you through the resources you may need by using the TORCH. The Online Resources Center Headquarters (TORCH) has valuable resources for anyone without any cost. You can have access to many of the forms needed to prepare for accreditation. Simply follow the self-registration instruction by going to <http://lms.naeyc.org/iCohere/torch>. If you have any questions, please contact NAEYC at 1800-424-2460, ext. 3.

Locally, for more information about the accreditation process, check out the SCAEYC Spring Conference on May 16th and join us for the scheduled NAEYC Accreditation Workshop! We also want to gather people together who are going through, or will be working on, NAEYC accreditation and want to be a part of a support group. E-mail us if you are interested in participating. We will work together to schedule a time and place for a first meeting and work with you!

In Memory of Tireless Child AdvocatesTom Hunter

As a frequent presenter at local, regional, state and national conferences for the Association for the Education of Young Children, Tom Hunter was no stranger to setting the tone, and having just the right words each time we had him grace our affiliate events. He warmed hearts and opened eyes as his quick wit and good humor filtered into his songs, even as they were growing from the ideas and moments with the crowd. Tom loved and shared in ways that every parent wishes for his/her child to do as an adult.

The sad news of Tom's illness and subsequent passing trickled into the hearts of members who shared a deep and abiding history with him. Many were grasping for words to express gratitude and love for the immense joy and pure refreshment he infused into a complicated world. Much of what we know about children, families, life, love, joy and the full range of emotions was enhanced while being around Tom. He brought the best of music and life to everyone who came in contact with him, whether through his music or the example of his life. His music, still available, relevant and touching, is available from the Song Growing Company (www.tomhunter.com), and will continue to enliven adults and children's hearts. His songs will be as timeless to adults and children in the future as on the day the songs were written from Tom's vibrant, loving and caring spirit.

Esther Sutton

Persistent and dedicated, loving and kind, Esther Sutton remained tireless in her passion to recruit and sustain members for SCAEYC, especially encouraging an interest in understanding how public policy affects daily work with children and families. If she wasn't in legislators' offices, she was writing or calling just to update them, cajole them or compliment them. Members hold dear to their hearts the shared memories of trips to Sacramento and lively visits to committee meetings with Esther. She was always reminding us to “write a letter.” So, now we will continue to write, in her memory and in her honor, and to do the right thing for children.

Helen Coffey

Helen taught those who knew her with her every word, her every interaction. Her involvement with the League of Women Voters, SCAEYC, and various other organizations promoting active awareness of children's issues drew us into her world and her work. Helen and husband, Bob, volunteered tirelessly in many community organizations, helping countless numbers of children and their families. If you had ever been to their home, you will recall the joyful, warm and sincerely inviting atmosphere, coupled with energy to complete the tasks at hand. Helen willingly and generously shared, provided a model, and left a dynamic legacy.

Investing in kids a smart bet

By Ginger Swigart
From dailynews.com

As the nation and California struggle through an economic crisis, a new administration and Congress gear up to make choices for our future. The right choice to strengthen our economy is to invest in children.

It is imperative that high-quality, affordable, and accessible early childhood education becomes a priority in state and national investments and policy-making. Focusing our efforts on early childhood education both at the grass-roots level and on a national stage will ensure the strength of America today and in the future.

James Heckman of the University of Chicago and Arthur Rolnick of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minnesota are among some of our nation's top economists who agree that the investment in early childhood education leads to a significant return.

Thomas F. Cooley, a dean of the New York University- Stern School of Business wrote in Forbes.com, "Education, as we all know, is a cumulative process. Thus, calling for a highly educated implies, almost by definition, that individuals receive both early childhood development and a solid education from kindergarten on up."

Cooley also echoed research proving that children who receive proper early childhood development and education in areas like language, motor skills, social skills and emotional support are less likely to drop out of school, commit crimes and require government support later in life.

Simply put, investing in early childhood education lays the foundation for children to succeed in school, work and life.

The California Association for the Education of Young Children strongly believes that our nation cannot wait any longer to make a high- quality, well-financed system of early childhood education a priority in every state and community. Investments in the Child Care & Development Block Grant and for Head Start would help hardworking families, while saving future expenses for them and the nation.

For eight years, early childhood education has not been adequately funded, yet costs to run and maintain child- care facilities and early learning programs have increased at a faster rate than inflation. Several states have instituted cutbacks in their child-care- assistance policies since February 2008. Here in California, we've seen many proposed cutbacks to early childhood education and child- care assistance as our leaders continue to try to find solutions to our state's budget deficit. The economic woes of California can be seen in several other states and will only be countered by a local, state and nationwide commitment to strong, high-quality early childhood education.

Investments in early childhood education would also keep and create jobs in early childhood, which is an economic sector as well. This is also a critical time for investments in human capital and the creation of a vibrant work force. According to one study, by making it possible for parents to work, the licensed child-care sector allows Americans to earn more than $100 billion annually. A thriving early childhood education field leads to three thriving work forces: families who depend on child care to work, the early childhood work force that would continue providing the care and education, and the future of children who are benefiting from the programs.

As we move forward as a nation in solving California's, and our nation's, economic troubles and building upon what works, early childhood education must remain a priority. Supporting children is not just the right thing to do; it is one of the smartest investments we can make for our nation's future.

Ginger Swigart is the president for the California Association for the Education of Young Children.
